Project Overview

This project focuses on building a custom Shopify store for a multi-category product business offering a wide range of personalized and gift-based items.

The store will be designed to balance aesthetic appeal with functionality, especially around customization, which is a core part of the product experience.

The build will include:

A custom-designed homepage in Figma tailored to the brand identity
Full Shopify store development with scalable architecture
Setup and organization of multiple product categories
Integration of product customization features
Import and display of customer reviews from external platforms
A smooth, conversion-focused user experience across devices

The goal is to create a store that feels premium, easy to use, and built to drive sales from day one.

Scope of Work

Complete UX/UI System

The project will include a complete UX/UI direction across the main shopping experience. This allows the store to feel consistent, premium, and easy to use across every key page.

Design Areas Included

- Homepage design with premium gifting positioning
- Collections and category page layouts
- Product page layout with personalization flow
- Navigation and mega menu structure
- Mobile header, menu, filters, and product browsing
- Cart drawer or cart page experience
- Gift options and add-on presentation
- Trust, reviews, bundles, and promotional sections
- Reusable design components for future store growth

What This Means in Practice

Instead of designing only a homepage and then building the rest of the store around default Shopify sections, we will plan the experience as a system. This includes typography, spacing, product cards, review blocks, CTA patterns, mobile behavior, filtering logic, trust badges, and personalization prompts.

Strategic Navigation Structure

The navigation should be planned around gifting intent, not only product categories. A customer looking for a gift often thinks by occasion, recipient, relationship, price, season, or delivery need. The store structure should support that behavior from the start.

Recommended Navigation Direction

- Shop by Occasion: Birthday, wedding, anniversary, graduation, housewarming, holidays, corporate gifting
- Shop by Recipient: For her, for him, for kids, for couples, for parents, for coworkers, for clients.

Scope of Work

- Shop by Product: Towels, bathrobes, kids' blankets, pocket knives, cheese boards, bamboo cutting boards, door signs, cups, and future categories.
- Seasonal Gifting: Christmas, Valentine's Day, Mother's Day, Father's Day, Thanksgiving, and limited-time gift edits.
- Personalized Favorites: Best sellers, new arrivals, engraved gifts, monogrammed gifts, gift sets, and bundles.

Collection Strategy

Collections will be organized so customers can find gift ideas quickly. Product filtering should support price, recipient, occasion, material, personalization type, delivery timing, and popularity where possible.

Personalization Flow

Personalization is the core of this business. The customizer should feel smooth, simple, and safe, especially on mobile. Customers should understand what they can add, where it will appear, how it affects the final product, and whether they have completed all required fields.

Customization Features

- Text input fields for names, initials, dates, messages, and short notes
- Font or text styling options where suitable
- Logo or image upload for selected products
- Gift box, gift card, and personal note options
- Clear required field validation before add to cart
- Preview-oriented layout where app functionality allows it
- Mobile-friendly input fields and step-by-step customization prompts

Recommended App Direction

A Shopify product options app can be used to manage personalization inputs, uploads, and gift options. The recommended app from the original proposal remains a suitable starting point: Product Options Pro. Final app selection should be confirmed after checking product complexity, preview needs, theme compatibility, and future scaling requirements.

Scope of Work

Conversion Optimization Plan

The store should be built to reduce hesitation. Personalized gifts require extra trust because customers worry about spelling, quality, delivery timing, return policies, and whether the final item will look right. The UX should answer these concerns before they become reasons to leave.

Conversion Elements to Include

- Review placement on product pages, collection pages, and trust sections
- Clear personalization guidance near the buying area
- Best seller and gift bundle sections
- Upsells and cross-sells tied to gift intent
- Trust badges for secure checkout, shipping, reviews, and support
- Delivery and production time messaging where required
- Sticky add-to-cart on mobile where appropriate
- Cart experience with add-ons, gift note, and easy edits
- Reduced friction during customization and checkout

Product Page Focus

Product pages should make the decision easy. The layout should highlight product photos, personalization inputs, review proof, shipping clarity, gifting options, FAQs, material details, and reassurance about order accuracy.

Design & UX Strategy

- UX planning for homepage, collections, product pages for both mobile and desktop.
- Custom homepage, product page and collection page design in Figma based on brand positioning (Desktop and Mobile)
- Design direction for key store templates and reusable components
- Mobile-first UI planning for the full buying journey
